

Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 03 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Some showers, especially in the morning. Warm by the afternoon.

Today:

Some showery rain during the morning, gradually dying out in the early afternoon. Early fog and low cloud burning back to the coast. Becoming warm by the afternoon, with sunny spells. Risk of a heavy shower later in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:

Dry for most, but often cloudy. However a continuing risk of an isolated heavy shower through the evening. Mild in the south, but cooler in northern parts. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:

Mainly dry Friday, with plenty of sunny spells in the north, but often cloudier in the south. Slightly cooler in the south. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Chilly start on Saturday, otherwise largely fine, dry and warm through this period with sunny spells. Some coastal fog possible, especially on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.